

#A RUB
3-15-01

) Art Unit: 2161

communication terminal unit equipped in said each contracted dwelling house is offered a customer service from said service provider, by logging in said communication server of said service provider or a specific communication service server equipped on said communication network to download into said terminal unit and execute an application program stored in either one of said servers.